

Tanglewood Tales February 2008

Another lively meeting this past Monday. Certainly beats most everything TV has to offer! The Fines Committee met. Great to know they haven't had much activity lately – we still need one more volunteer to bring it up to the best size. Nelly was finally able to report that we have been reimbursed, by the parties involved, for gate incidents which resulted in charges to the association. Guess it just takes time, patience and tenacity! Evidently some homeowners who have had vehicles towed feel they are being "persecuted". This is certainly not the intent or purpose when such action is necessary. Provision for towing is included in our documents; there is a sign at the gate warning that towing can be done during certain time periods. If a rescue truck couldn't get to your home in an emergency because the road was blocked, wouldn't you wish the offending vehicle had been removed? If all goes according to plan, you will soon have a letter, hand delivered, which we need everyone to respond to. There is a possibility a change could be made in one item of our declarations. Before the Board votes to get involved with the legal side of this action, we want to know how the majority of homeowners feel about it. If this sounds mysterious, it's really not. But maybe your interest is piqued? Must add, the "hand delivery" is to save postage expense. We DO try to keep a lid on all our money that goes out. Not easy these days. A Website for our community is on our 'wish list' but, out of necessity, somewhat down the road. But something to think about. If you have any suggestions or expertise and time to get involved you would be most welcome. More on this at a later time. Put March 17 on your calendar and come to next month's meeting. Green attire optional. Maybe even orange! Could be fun. AND, in case you haven't come across this information – Daylight Savings will begin again on March 9. Someone keeps changing the rules!
